INTRODUCTION

The picture of the care of people with mental suffering has changed since the Brazilian Psychiatric Reform, by the new devices in assistance and to consider breaking the paradigms that had maintained practices "psis" exclusionary. More evidence of change is the new procedure adopted by SUS - the Unified Health System for who the disease is not longer the main focus, the new concept of man, of world, wins another path in search of health promotion.

The workshops therapeutic are strategic and effective devices used in substitute services.

We believe that "Therapy Workshop" is built on an area of construction of subjectivity, allowing the user to build your network from internal and external relationships with the world, imbued with a background of past and future enabling the here and now.

OBJECTIVE

We discuss and implement mental health professionals in the understanding of empowerment of user, the discussion of social, of subjectivity with the intention of bringing the another from condition of object to the condition of subject.

STATEMENT AND REPORT

Workshops Therapeutic presents a dynamic process and often creates of conflicts, since that does not exist a rule to the resolution of problems. It should be added that within that tissue conflict are the professional with their idiosyncrasies, which is a need for an area of learning to understand the profound significance of the desistitucionalização.

RESULTS / DISCUSSION

Consolidated by means relation professional and user the host of subjectivities in a field of past and future, with the background of the "do".

CONCLUSION

The therapeutic workshops have potential and possibilities, seeking the new, analyzing the old and making from the individual the contemplation of his histories, a field full of unity, experience of public essences.

CONTRIBUTION TO OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY

It is the deconstruction of doing only occupant, searching for understanding the large work, opening the door to the great discussion, trying to free ourselves from the crystallization of madness
